

Wiley and Cook Australia continue to build a productive work relationship

CLIENT

Cook Australia, part of the Cook Group, is a leading producer of health care devices and other products.

SITUATION

Cook Australia has a need for ongoing small construction projects, as well as various refurbishment and maintenance works.

Examples of these works include:

- A concrete tilt panel wall to separate a clean room from a media preparation area
- A water treatment room
- A mechanical services plant room.

The company uses Wiley for these works and Wiley responds quickly and effectively to enable Cook Australia to rapidly adapt to changing production requirements.

CHALLENGES

- Working within an existing clean production environment
- Coordinating equipment changes to enable ongoing production
- Responding quickly and efficiently to client requests.

SOLUTIONS

- Coordinating and overseeing trades, including demolition crews, plasterers, electricians, floor layers, painters, plumbers and cleaners, to meet critical deadlines and to comply with strict hygiene standards
- Controlling dust and debris within a hygienic environment
- Working quickly and efficiently to meet tight deadlines and budget requirements.

RESULTS

Wiley and Cook Australia are developing a positive, ongoing relationship in which Wiley continues to deliver quality design and construction services.

These services allow Cook Australia to remain responsive and productive as it continues to expand into the future.
